1949 Cap.14. A LAW TO AMEND AND CONSOLIDATE THE LAW RELATING 28 of 52.

TO PROCEDURE IN CRIMINAL PROCEEDINGS,

39 of 54. 55 of 54. 27 of 55

28 of 56. 37 of 58.

Short title.

[15th December, 1948.]

1. This Law may be cited as the Criminal Procedure Law.

PART I.

Preliminary.

Interpretation.

2. In this Law-

"charge" means the accusation in writing of an offence with which an accused person is charged in a summary trial or a preliminary inquiry;

"Court" means a Court of competent jurisdiction;

"criminal proceedings" and cognate expressions mean any proceedings instituted before any Court against any person to obtain punishment of such person for any offence against any enactment and includes a preliminary inquiry;

" enactment " includes Laws and public instruments :

"information" means the accusation in writing of an offence filed by, or on behalf of, the Attorney-General in an Assize Court against an accused person for trial before such Court;

"Judge" means any member of a District Court;

"offence" means an act, attempt, or omission punishable under any enactment;

"officer in charge of a police station" includes, when the officer in charge of a police station is absent from the station building or is unable for any reason to perform his duties, the police officer present at the station building who is next in seniority to, or who, in the absence of such officer in charge, performs the duty of, such officer;

"penalty" means any fine imposed under any enactment in force for the time being, any forfeited bail bond or recognisance, any sum adjudged in any criminal proceedings to be paid by any person by way of compensation, damages, costs or otherwise and includes the costs of execution for the recovery of the same;

"place" includes any house, office, room or building and any place or spot, whether open or enclosed and any vehicle, aircraft on land and any ship, boat or other vessel whether afloat or not;

"preliminary inquiry" means an inquiry into a charge held by a judge with a view to the commital of an accused person for trial before an Assize Court;

"summary trial" means any trial by a Judge in the exercise of his summary jurisdiction.

3. As regards matters of criminal procedure for which Law of England there is no special provision in this Law or in any other when enactment in force for the time being, every Court shall, applicable. in criminal proceedings, apply the law and rules of practice relating to criminal procedure for the time being in force in England.

PART II.

Proceedings INVESTIGATION OF OFFENCES AND ANTECEDENT TO PROSECUTION.

Investigation of Offences.

4. (1) Any police officer may investigate into the com- Investiga-mision of any offence.

- (2) The Governor may authorise any person, by name or by his office, who appears to him to be competent for the purpose, to investigate into the commission of any offence.
- (3) Any police officer or any person authorised under subsection (2) investigating into the commission of any offence is hereafter in this Law referred to as 'investigating officer '.

5. (1) Every investigating officer may require any person, Investigation of whom he has reason to suppose to be acquainted with the offences. facts or circumstances of the offence which he is in- 3 of 6/53. vestigating, to attend at such time and place as such officer may reasonably direct for the purpose of examining him and taking a statement from him in relation to such offence.

(2) The investigating officer may reduce into writing any statement made by the person examined and such statement shall then be read over to such person who shall thereupon sign the same or, if he is illiterate, affix his mark thereto and, if such person refuses to do so, the investigating officer shall make at the foot of the statement a note of the refusal stating also the reason thereof, if ascertained, and the statement shall then be signed by the investigating officer.

(3) Any such statement if proved to have been made voluntarily shall be admissible in evidence in any criminal proceedings against the person making the statement.

(4) Any person who, without reasonable cause, refuses to attend at such time and place as he may be directed, shall be guilty of an offence and shall be liable to imprisonment for a term not exceeding one year or to a fine not exceeding one hundred pounds or to both.

Order to produce documents

- 6. (1) The investigating officer during the investigation of an offence may, if he considers the production of a document to be necessary or desirable for the purposes of such investigation, issue a written order to the person in whose possession or under whose control such document is, or is believed to be, requiring him to produce it at such reasonable time and place as may be specified in the order.
- (2) Any person required by written order under this section to produce a document shall be deemed to have complied with the order, if he causes the document to be produced instead of attending personally to produce the same.
- (3) Any person who, without reasonable cause, refuses to produce any document when ordered to do so under this section shall be guilty of an offence and shall be liable to imprisonment for a term not exceeding three years or to a fine not exceeding one hundred pounds or to both.

(4) Nothing in this section shall apply to any document for the production of which a warrant of the Governor or an order of the Court is required by this Law or any other Law.

Governor may require production of telegrams 7. (1) If during the investigation of an offence it is made to appear to the Governor that such course is expedient in the public interest, the Governor may, by warrant under his hand, require any person who owns or controls any telegraphic cable or wire, or any apparatus for wireless telegraphy, used for the sending or receipt of telegrams to or from any place either within or out of the Colony, to produce to him, or to any person named in the warrant, the originals and transcripts, either of all telegrams, or of telegrams of any specified class or description, or of telegrams sent from or addressed to any specified person or place, sent or received to or from any place either within or out of the Colony by means of any such cable, wire or apparatus, and all other papers relating to any such telegram as aforesaid.

- (2) Any person who, on being required to produce any such original or transcript or paper as aforesaid, refuses or neglects to do so, shall be guilty of an offence and shall be liable to imprisonment for a term not exceeding three years or to a fine not exceeding one hundred pounds or to both.
 - (3) For the purposes of this section—

"telegram" means any message or other communication transmitted or intended for transmission by any apparatus for transmitting messages or other communications by means of electric signals;

"wireless telegraphy" means any system of communication by telegraph without the aid of any wire connecting the points from and at which the messages or other communications are sent and received.

8. Without prejudice to the generality of section 3 of this Applica-Law and without prejudice to the operation of section 5 of Judges' this Law the rules for the time being approved by Her Rules. Majesty's Judges of the Queen's Bench Division in England relating to the taking of statements by police officers (known as "The Judges' Rules") shall apply to the taking of statements in the Colony as they apply to the taking of statements in England.

Arrest and Search.

9. (1) In making an arrest, the police officer or other Arrest. person making the same shall actually touch or confine the body of the person to be arrested, unless there be a submission to the custody by word or action.

(2) If the person to be arrested forcibly resists the endeavour to arrest him or attempts to evade the arrest, the police officer or other person making the arrest may use all means necessary to effect the arrest:

Provided that nothing in this subsection contained shall be deemed to justify the use of greater force than was reasonable in the circumstances in which it was employed or was necessary for the arrest of the offender.

- (3) Except when the person arrested is in the actual course of the commission of an offence or is pursued immediately after the commission of an offence or escapes from lawful custody, the police officer or other person making the arrest shall inform the person arrested of the cause of the arrest.
- 10. (1) Whenever a person is arrested the police officer Search of making the arrest or to whom the person arrested is handed person.

over may search such person, using such force as may be reasonably necessary for such purpose and may seize any article or document found in the possession of such person which such police officer has sufficient reason to believe may form material evidence against the person searched, or any other person, on a criminal charge and may, in any case, take from the person arrested any instrument of violence or other offensive weapon which such person has about him.

- (2) Whenever it is necessary to search a woman, the search shall be made by a woman.
- (3) Where any property has been seized or taken from any person under this section and the person is released on the ground that there is no sufficient reason to believe that he has committed any offence, the property so taken from him shall be restored to him by the person in charge of the property unless such person has sufficient reason to believe that such property may form material evidence against any other person on a criminal charge.

Search of place in pursuit of person evading arrest.

- 11. (1) If any person, having authority to arrest whether under a warrant or not, has reason to believe that the person to be arrested has entered into or is within any place, every person residing in or being in charge of such place shall, on demand, allow the person having such authority free ingress thereto and shall afford all reasonable facilities to search therein for the person sought to be arrested.
- (2) If ingress to such place cannot be obtained under subsection (1) of this section, any person having authority to arrest may enter such place and search therein for the person to be arrested and, in order to effect an entrance into such place, may break open any outer or inner door or window of any house or place, whether in charge of the person to be arrested or of any other person, or otherwise effect entry into such house or place.

Power to break out of any house for purpose of liberation.

12. Any person having authority to arrest whether under warrant or not may break out of any house or place in order to liberate himself or any other person who, having lawfully entered for the purpose of making an arrest, is detained therein.

 Any person who is arrested, whether with or without Arrested a warrant, shall be taken with all reasonable despatch to a taken to police station or other place for the reception of arrested police persons and shall, without delay, be informed of the charge place for against him.

persons to be reception of

Any such person while in custody shall be given reason- persons. able facilities for obtaining legal advice for taking steps to obtain bail and otherwise for making arrangements for his defence or release.

14. (1) Any police officer may, without warrant, arrest Arrest by any person-

police officer

- (a) whom he suspects upon reasonable grounds of warrant in having committed an offence punishable with death or imprisonment for a term exceeding two years;
- (b) who commits in his presence any offence punishable with imprisonment;
- (c) who obstructs a police officer, while in the execution of his duty, or who has escaped or is attempting to escape from lawful custody;
- (d) in whose possession anything is found which may reasonably be suspected to be stolen property and who may reasonably be suspected of having committed an offence with reference to such property:
- (e) whom he suspects upon reasonable grounds of being a deserter from Her Majesty's Navy, Army or Air Force:
- (f) whom he suspects upon reasonable grounds of having been concerned in any act committed at any place out of the Colony which, if committed in the Colony would have been punishable as an offence and for which he is, under any Act of Parliament or Order of Her Majesty in Council extending to the Colony, liable to be apprehended and detained in the Colony;
- (g) for whom he has reasonable cause to believe a warrant of arrest has been issued by a Court;
- (h) who has no ostensible means of subsistence and who cannot give a satisfactory account of himself:
- (i) who is found taking precautions to conceal his presence in circumstances which afford reason

- to believe that he is taking such precautions with a view to committing an offence;

54. The Court, at any stage of the proceedings, may call Power to any person as a witness or re-call and further examine re-call or any person already examined and the Court may examine witnesses. or re-call and further examine any such person if his evidence appears to the Court to be essential to the just determination of the case.

Evidence of witness to be on oath or affirmation. 55. (1) Every witness shall in criminal proceedings be examined upon oath and the Court before which any witness shall appear shall have full power and authority to administer such oath as is customarily administered to persons of the creed or faith of the witness:

Provided that any person, upon objecting to be sworn and stating as the ground of such objection either that he has no religious belief or that the taking of an oath is contrary to his religious belief (the fact to be recorded on the minutes of the proceedings), shall, instead of taking an oath, be permitted to make an affirmation by solemnly promising and declaring that the evidence to be given by him to the Court shall be the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth and such affirmation shall be of the same force and effect as if he had taken the oath;

Provided further that the Court may examine without oath any child of tender years who does not, in the opinion of the Court, understand the nature of an oath (the fact to be recorded on the minutes of the proceedings).

(2) Where an oath has been duly administered and taken, the fact that the person to whom the same was administered had, at the time of taking such oath, no religious belief or the taking of the oath was contrary to his religious belief shall not for any purpose affect the validity of such oath.

Order of examination of witnesses.

- 56. (1) Every witness shall in criminal proceedings be first examined-in-chief by the party calling him, then, if any other party so desires, cross-examined, then, if the party calling him so desires, re-examined.
- (2) The examination and cross-examination must relate to relevant facts; but the cross-examination need not be confined to the facts to which the witness testified on his examination-in-chief.
- (3) Except with the permission of the Court, the reexamination shall be directed to the explanation of matters referred to in cross-examination: and, if by permission of the Court new matter is introduced in re-examination, the other party may further cross-examine upon that matter.
- (4) When an advocate appears for any party, the examination-in-chief, cross-examination and re-examination as in this section provided shall be conducted by such advocate.

57. In any criminal proceedings where more than one Crossaccused is charged at the same time-

examination of witnesses

(a) each accused shall be allowed to cross-examine a by cowitness called by the prosecution before the witness is re-examined;

- (b) if a witness called by one accused in giving evidence incriminates another co-accused, such witness may be cross-examined by such coaccused and, if so cross-examined, such crossexamination shall take place before crossexamination by the prosecution.
- 58. (1) Whenever any person, appearing either in Refractory obedience to a summons or by virtue of a warrant, or being present in Court and being required by the Court to give evidence-

- (a) refuses to be sworn or make affirmation; or
- (b) having been sworn or made affirmation, refuses to answer any question put to him; or
- (c) refuses or neglects to produce any document or thing which he is required to produce; or
- (d) refuses in a preliminary inquiry to sign his deposition, without in any such case offering any excuse to the satisfaction of the Court, for such refusal or neglect, the Court may, by warrant, commit such person to prison, unless he sooner consents to do what is required of him.
- If such person, upon being brought before the Court, again refuses to do what is required of him, the Court may, if it sees fit, again commit him and so again from time to time until such person consents to do what is so required of him.
- (3) Any person committed to prison under the provisions of this section may appeal to the Supreme Court and the provisions of this Law relating to appeals to the Supreme Court by persons convicted by a District Court shall apply mutatis mutandis to a witness committed to prison under this section.
- (4) Nothing herein contained shall affect the liability of any such person to any other punishment or proceeding for refusing or neglecting to do what is so required of him, or shall prevent the Court from disposing of the case in the meantime according to any other sufficient evidence taken before it.

Dumb witnesses.

- 59. (1) A witness who is unable to speak may take the oath or affirm and may give his evidence in any manner in which he can make it intelligible, such as by writing or by signs; but such writing must be written, and the signs made, in open Court.
 - (2) Evidence so given shall be deemed to be oral evidence.

Court may order payment of the costs and expenses of witness, 60. Where any person appears before the Court on summons, recognisance or by virtue of a warrant to give evidence either on behalf of the prosecution or on behalf of the accused, the Court may, at any stage of the proceedings, order payment of such costs and expenses of such witness together with compensation for his trouble and loss of time, as may be prescribed.

Taking evidence by commission. 61. Any Court may, in any criminal proceedings in which it appears necessary for the purpose of justice to do so, make any order for the taking of evidence on oath before any officer of the Court or any other person or persons and at any place within or without the Colony, of any witness or person, and may order any evidence so taken to be filed in the Court and may empower either the prosecutor or the accused to produce such evidence on such terms as such Court may direct. An appeal shall lie from any order made under this section to the Supreme Court and shall be brought by notice of appeal given to the Chief Registrar and to the other party within ten days from the date of the order and the Supreme Court may set aside, confirm or amend such order.

General provisions as to pleas and procedure in all trials, summary and on information.

Pleading to charge or information. 62. The person to be tried upon any charge or information shall, when present, be placed before the Court unfettered unless the Court shall otherwise order and the charge or information shall be read over to him by the Judge or other officer of the Court, who may if necessary explain to him the matter and contents thereof, and such person shall be called upon to plead instantly thereto:

Provided that the accused may, before pleading, apply to be supplied with a copy of the charge or information and the Court shall cause him to be supplied with such copy or he may apply for further time to plead and the Court may allow such further time on such terms as it may think fit.

63. (1) The accused shall be entitled to be present at the Presence of Court during the whole of the trial so long as he conducts during trial. himself properly.

- (2) If an accused does not conduct himself properly, the Court may, in its discretion, direct him to be removed and kept in custody and proceed with the trial in his absence making such provision as in its discretion appears sufficient for his being informed of what passed at the trial and for the making of his defence.
- (3) The Court may, if it thinks proper, permit the accused to be out of Court during the whole or any part of the trial, on such terms as it may think fit.
- 64. (1) The Court, before which an accused is to be tried Assignment upon a charge or information or on the hearing of an appeal by Court. from a judgment of an Assize Court, may assign an advocate 7 of 6/53. to defend the accused or the appellant, as the case may be, if the gravity, difficulty or other circumstances of the case make it desirable in the interests of justice; and the Court shall assign an advocate to defend any undefended person to be tried for an offence punishable with death.

- (2) An advocate assigned by the Court shall receive out of the public funds of the Colony such honorarium as the Court, subject to the general direction of the Chief Justice, may allow.
- 65. (1) Whenever any evidence is given in a language not Interpretaunderstood by the accused, and he is present in person, tion of evidence to it shall be interpreted to him in open Court in a language accused. which he understands:

Provided that when he is defended by an advocate interpretation may, with the consent of the advocate and the approval of the Court, be dispensed with.

- (2) When documents are put in for the purpose of formal proof, it shall be in the discretion of the Court to have interpreted as much thereof as appears necessary.
- (3) The Court may test in such manner as it may think fit the ability of the interpreter and may administer to him such oath, as it may think fit, that he will well and truly carry out the interpretation.

Objection to charge or information, 66. Any objection to a charge or information for any formal defect on the face thereof shall be taken immediately after the charge or information has been read over to the accused and before he pleads thereto but not later.

Pleas by accused. 67. When the accused is called upon to plead, he may plead guilty or not guilty or any such special plea as is specified in section 69 of this Law and his plea shall be recorded by the Court.

Plea of guilty or not guilty.

- 68. (1) If the accused pleads guilty and the Court is satisfied that he understood the nature of his plea, the Court shall proceed as if the accused had been convicted by the judgment of the Court.
- (2) If the accused pleads not guilty, the Court shall proceed with the hearing of the case in the manner in section 74 of this Law provided.
- (3) If the accused refuses, or will not answer directly, or by reason of physical infirmity is unable, to plead, the Court shall proceed in the same manner as if he had pleaded not guilty.

Special pleas.

- 69. (1) The accused may, before pleading to the charge or information, plead—
 - (a) that the Court before which he is called upon to plead has not and that some other Court has jurisdiction over him or over the offence with which he is charged, and, if the plea is sustained, the Court shall send the case to be tried before the Court in the Colony which has jurisdiction over the offender or over the offence;
 - (b) that he has been previously convicted or acquitted, as the case may be, on the same facts for the same offence;
 - (c) that he has obtained a pardon for his offence.
- (2) If either of the pleas in paragraph (b) or (c) of subsection (1) of this section is pleaded and denied to be true in fact, the Court shall try whether such plea is true in fact or not.

If the Court holds that the facts alleged by the accused do not prove the plea, or if they find that it is false in fact, the accused shall be required to plead to the charge or information.

70. (1) If any person, when called upon to plead, appears Insanity of to be insane and incapable of following the proceedings, the Court shall direct such inquiry as it thinks fit to be made with a view to ascertaining whether he is so insane and incapable, and, if upon such inquiry the Court is of opinion that he is so insane and incapable, the Court shall direct him to be detained during the pleasure of the Governor.

- (2) If after trial any person is acquitted on the ground of insanity the Court shall direct him to be detained during the pleasure of the Governor and in every such case, the finding shall state specifically that the accused had committed the act or omission constituting the offence but that he is acquitted on the ground of insanity.
- (3) The Governor may, from time to time, give such directions as he thinks fit as to the custody of any person directed to be detained as in this section provided.
- 71. (1) Where an accused person is charged with having Pleading to previously been convicted, he shall not, when called upon previous to plead, be required to plead to any statement charging conviction. him with having been previously convicted except at the end of the trial and only if he had pleaded guilty to, or was found guilty on, the rest of the count containing such statement.

- (2) Where a person may properly be required to plead to a statement charging him with a previous conviction, he shall be asked if he has been previously convicted as alleged and, if he admits that he has been previously so convicted, the Court may proceed to sentence him but, if he denies that he has been previously so convicted or stands mute of malice or does not answer directly such question, the Court shall inquire concerning such previous conviction and proceed to pass sentence as the circumstances of the case may require.
- 72. (1) Where the accused is a corporation such cor- Appearance and plead to a shore an information and plea by poration may appear and plead to a charge or information, corporation, by its representative, by entering a plea in writing; and, if either the corporation does not appear by representative or, though it does so appear, fails to enter any plea, the Court shall cause a plea of not guilty to be recorded and the trial shall proceed accordingly.

(2) In this section the expression "representative" in relation to a corporation means a person duly appointed by the corporation to represent it for the purpose of doing any act or thing which the representative of a corporation is by this section authorised to do but a person so appointed shall not, by virtue only of being so appointed, be qualified to act on behalf of the corporation before any Court for any other purpose.

A representative for the purposes of this section need not be appointed under the seal of the corporation and a statement in writing purporting to be signed by a managing director of the corporation or by any person, by whatever name called, having, or being one of the persons having, the management of the affairs of the corporation to the effect that the person named in the statement has been appointed as the representative of the corporation for the purposes of this section shall be admissible without further proof as prima facie evidence that that person has been so appointed.

Witnesses to leave the Court during hearing.

- 73. If the accused pleads not guilty, the Court shall direct that all witnesses shall leave the Court:
 Provided that—
 - (a) the Court may permit professional and technical witnesses to remain in Court; and
 - (b) failure to comply with the provisions of this section shall not invalidate the proceedings.

Hearing of the case.

- 74. (1) After the witnesses have left the Court as in section 73 of this Law provided, the Court shall proceed to hear the case in the manner following:—
 - (a) the prosecutor or the advocate for the prosecution shall proceed to call the witnesses and adduce such other evidence as may be adduced in support of the case for the prosecution;
 - (b) at the close of the case for the prosecution, the accused or his advocate may submit that a prima facie case has not been made out against the accused sufficiently to require him to make a defence and, if the Court sustains the submission, it shall acquit the accused;

- (c) at the close of the case of the prosecution, if it appears to the Court that a prima facie case is made out against the accused sufficiently to require him to make a defence, the Court shall call upon him for his defence and shall inform him that he may make a statement, without being sworn, from the place where he then is, in which case he will not be liable to cross-examination or give evidence in the witness box, after being sworn as a witness, in which case he will be liable to cross-examination as a witness;
- (d) after the accused has made a statement or has given evidence as hereinbefore provided, he may call any witness or other evidence he has to adduce in his defence ;
- (e) if the accused adduces in his defence new matter which the prosecution could not have foreseen, the prosecutor or the advocate for the prosecution may, with the leave of the Court, adduce evidence to rebut such new matter.
- (2) At every trial, the presecutor and accused or their respective advocates may open their case and, at the conclusion of the trial, the party who has last called a witness may address the Court and the other party may then address the Court in reply:

Provided that, when a Law Officer appears for the prosecution, such officer shall have a right of reply in all cases.

75. Where more persons than one are tried together, the Procedure Court may regulate the procedure to be followed at the more persons hearing in any way which may appear desirable and which than one. is not inconsistent with the provisions of this Law.

76. Where, during or upon a joint trial, one of the accused cross-examination gives evidence under section 74 (c) of this Law and, in so by codoing, incriminates one of his co-accused, such co-accused accused. shall be entitled to cross-examine him and such crossexamination shall take place before cross-examination by the prosecution.

77. (1) At the conclusion of the hearing the Court shall Acquittal or consider the whole case and deliver its judgment and, for conviction. this purpose, may adjourn the trial.

- (2) When the Court consists of more than one Judge, unless a majority of the Court considers the accused guilty, he shall be acquitted.
- (3) If the accused is found guilty the Court shall convict him and, subject to the provisions of sections 78 and 79 of this Law, proceed to consider what sentence shall be imposed upon him.

In deciding what sentence shall be imposed, in case the Court consists of more than one Judge and there is an equality of votes, the president of the Court shall have an additional or casting vote.

(4) If the Court acquits the accused, he shall be immediately discharged from custody unless he is acquitted on the grounds of insanity.

Allocutus.

78. If the Court finds the accused guilty or if the accused person pleads guilty, it shall be the duty of the Judge or other officer of the Court to ask him whether he has anything to say why sentence should not be passed upon him according to law, but the omission so to ask him shall have no effect on the validity of the proceedings.

Motion in arrest of judgment.

- 79. (1) The accused may, at any time before sentence, whether on his plea of guilty or otherwise, move in arrest of judgment on the ground that the charge or information does not, after any alteration which the Court is willing to and has power to make, state any offence which the Court has power to try.
- (2) The Court may, in its discretion, either hear and determine the matter during the same sitting, or adjourn the hearing thereof to a future time to be fixed for that purpose.
- (3) If the Court decides in favour of the accused, he shall be discharged from that charge or information.

Sentence.

80. If the Court decides against the accused on a motion in arrest of judgment or if the accused, after having been asked as in section 78 of this Law provided, has nothing to say or after hearing what he has to say the Court is of opinion that sentence should nevertheless be passed upon him, the Court may either proceed to pass sentence upon him according to law or may postpone the passing of such sentence to a future time.

81. (1) Where in any criminal proceedings instituted by Outstanding or on behalf of a public officer the accused is found guilty of an offence, the Court, in determining and in passing sentence, may, with the consent of the prosecutor and the accused, take into consideration any other outstanding offence or offences which the accused admits to have committed:

Provided that, if any criminal proceedings are pending in respect of any such outstanding offence or offences and such proceedings were not instituted by or on behalf of a public officer, the Court shall first be satisfied that the prosecutor in such proceedings consents to that course,

- (2) When consent is given as in subsection (1) of this section and an outstanding offence is taken into consideration, the Court shall enter or cause an entry to that effect to be made on the record and upon sentence being pronounced the accused shall not, unless the conviction which has been had is set aside, be liable to be charged or tried in respect of any such offence so taken into consideration.
- 82. No variance between the facts proved at the trial Variances. and the statement of the offence in the charge or information shall affect the validity of the proceedings unless the Court considers that the accused has thereby been actually misled and prejudiced in his defence, in which case the Court may, on the application of the accused, adjourn the trial and allow any witness to be recalled and such questions to be put to him as, by reason of the terms of the charge or information, may have been omitted.

83. (1) Where, at any stage of a trial, it appears to the Alteration of Court that the charge or information is defective, either in defective charge or substance or in form, the Court may make such order for information. the alteration of the charge or information either by way of amendment of the charge or information or by the substitution or addition of a new count thereon as the Court thinks necessary to meet the circumstances of the case.

(2) Where a charge or information is so altered, a note of the order for the alteration shall be made on the charge or information and the charge or information shall be treated for the purpose of all proceedings in connection therewith as having been filed in the altered form.

Procedure on alteration of charge or information.

- 84. (1) When a charge or information is altered as in section 83 provided, the Court shall forthwith call upon the accused to plead thereto and to state whether he is ready to be tried on such altered charge or information.
- (2) If the accused declares that he is not ready, the Court shall consider the reasons he may give and, if proceeding immediately with the trial is not likely in the opinion of the Court to prejudice the accused in his defence or the prosecutor in his conduct of the case, the Court may proceed with the trial as if the altered charge or information had been the original one.
- (3) If the altered charge or information is such that proceeding immediately with the trial is likely, in the opinion of the Court, to prejudice the accused or the prosecutor. the Court may either direct a new trial or adjourn the trial for such period as the Court may consider necessary.
- (4) When a charge or information is altered by the Court after the commencement of the trial the evidence already given in the course of the trial may be used without being reheard but the parties shall be allowed to recall or re-summon any witness who may have been examined and examine or cross-examine such witness with reference to such alteration.

Proof of part of charge or information not contained therein.

- 85. (1) If part only of the charge or information is proved and the part so proved constitutes an offence, the accused or of offence may, without altering the charge or information, be convicted of the offence which he is proved to have committed.
 - (2) If a person is charged with an offence, he may, without altering the charge or information, be convicted of attempting to commit the offence.
 - (3) If a person is proved to have done any act with the intent to commit the offence with which he is charged, and if it is an offence to do such an act with such an intent, he may, without amending the charge or information and notwithstanding that he was not charged with such lastmentioned offence, be convicted of the same.
 - (4) If at the conclusion of the trial the Court is of opinion that it has been established by evidence that the accused has committed an offence or offences not contained in the charge or information and of which he cannot be convicted without amending the charge or information, and upon his conviction for which he would not be liable to a greater punishment than he would be liable to if he were convicted on the charge or information, and that the accused would not be prejudiced thereby in his defence, the Court may direct a count or counts to be added to the charge or information charging the accused with such offence or offences, and the Court shall give their judgment thereon as if such count or counts had formed a part of the original charge or information.

86. If a charge or information does not state, and cannot Quashing of by any alteration authorised by this Law be made to state, charge or information, any offence which, in the opinion of the Court, was within the reasonable contemplation of the accused, it shall be quashed either on a motion made before the accused pleads or on a motion made in arrest of judgment.

A written statement of every such motion shall be delivered to the Registrar or other officer of the Court by or on behalf of the accused and shall be entered upon the record.

87. (1) Where it appears to the Court that in the interest View of of justice the Court should have a view of any place, person locus. or thing connected with the case, the Court may proceed to view the place, person or thing concerned.

(2) The accused shall be present at the view, unless the Court otherwise directs and the Court may generally give such directions regarding the said view and proceedings thereat as to it may seem fit.

Special provisions in summary trials.

88. Except where a longer time is specially allowed by Limitation any Law in force for the time being, no charge shall be of time for charges in brought against any person for any offence the punishment summary for which does not exceed imprisonment for three months trials in or a fine of twenty-five pounds or both, unless the charge is brought within six months from the day of the commission of the offence.

89. (1) If at any summary trial at the time appointed Proceedings for his appearance, an accused whose personal attendance on non-appearance has not been dispensed with under subsection (1) has not been dispensed with under subsection (1) of of accused section 45 of this Law, fails to appear then, on proof of prosecutor. service of the summons upon him, the Court may proceed to hear and determine the case in his absence or, if it thinks fit adjourn the case and issue a warrant for his arrest under the provisions of this Law.

(2) If, at the time appointed for the hearing of the case, the accused appears but the prosecutor fails to appear, the Court shall acquit the accused unless for some reason it thinks proper to adjourn the hearing of the case to some other day, upon such terms as it may think fit.

Offence proving unsuitable for summary trial. 90. If, before or during the course of a summary trial, it appears to the Court that the case is one which ought to be tried by an Assize Court, the Court shall stop further proceedings and direct a preliminary inquiry to be held under the provisions of this Law.

Withdrawal of charge. 91. Subject to the provisions of section 154 of this Law, if a prosecutor in any summary trial, at any time before a final order is passed, satisfies the Court that there are sufficient grounds for permitting him to withdraw the charge, the Court may permit him to withdraw the same and shall thereupon acquit the accused:

Provided that, if the charge is so withdrawn before the accused had pleaded to it, the accused shall be discharged but such discharge shall not operate as an acquittal.

Preliminary Inquiry.

Preliminary inquiry to be held for offences not triable summarily. 92. Whenever any charge has been brought against any person of an offence not triable summarily or as to which the Court is of opinion that it is not suitable to be disposed of by summary trial, a preliminary inquiry shall be held by a Judge in accordance with the provisions in sections 93 to 105 (inclusive) contained.

Procedure in preliminary inquiries. 93. Where a Judge holds a preliminary inquiry, the following provisions shall apply:—

(a) when the accused appears or is brought before the Judge, the Judge shall read and explain to him the charge to which the accused, however, should not be required to plead and, if any plea is made, it shall not be recorded by the Judge;

(b) the Judge shall proceed to take the evidence of the witnesses for the prosecution, in the manner in sections 96 and 97 of this Law provided, in the presence of the accused and, whenever any evidence is given in a language not understood by the accused, the provisions of section 65 of this Law shall be applied: Provided that, if the accused does not conduct himself properly, the provisions of subsection (2) of section 63 of this Law shall apply mutatis mutandis to this paragraph;

(c) if, after examination of the witnesses called on behalf of the prosecution, the Judge considers that on the evidence as it stands, regard being had to the provisions of section 94 of this Law, there are sufficient grounds for committing the accused for trial, the Judge shall read again the charge to the accused person and explain the nature thereof to him in simple language and address to him the following words, or words to the like effect:—

"This is not your trial. You will be tried later before the Assize Court. You will then be able to conduct your defence and call any witnesses on your own behalf. Unless you wish to reserve your defence, which you are at liberty to do, you may now either make a statement not on oath or give evidence on oath and in any case call witnesses on your behalf. If you give evidence on oath you will be liable to cross-examination. Anything you may say whether on oath or not will be taken down and may be used in evidence at your trial before the Assize Court"; and the Judge shall proceed to state to him and give him clearly to understand that he has nothing to hope from any promise of favour and nothing to fear from any threat which may have been held out to him to induce him to make any admission or confession of his guilt, but that whatsoever he then says may be given in evidence on his trial notwithstanding any such promise or threat;

(d) everything which the accused says, either by way of statement or evidence, shall be recorded in full by the Judge and shall be read over to him and, whilst it is so read, the accused shall be at liberty to explain or add to the record thereof. The record shall then be signed by the accused and attested by the Judge; if the accused is unable to sign his name, he shall affix his mark which shall be witnessed by the Judge and, if the accused refuses either to sign or to affix his mark, the Judge shall make a note of such refusal and his record may be used as if the accused had signed it or affixed his mark thereto.

The statement of the accused recorded as aforesaid may, without further proof, be received and read in evidence at his trial unless it is proved that the Judge purporting to attest the statement did not in fact attest it;

- (e) the Judge shall then, and whether the accused has or has not made a statement or given evidence, ask him whether he desires to call witnesses on his own behalf and the Judge shall take the evidence of any witnesses called by the accused in the manner in sections 96 and 97 of this Law provided;
- (f) the accused or his advocate shall be at liberty to address the Court—
 - (i) after the examination of the witnesses called on behalf of the prosecution;
 - (ii) if no witnesses for the defence are called, immediately after the statement or evidence of the accused; if witnesses for the defence are called, immediately after the evidence of such witnesses;
- (g) if the accused or his advocate addresses the Court in accordance with the provisions of paragraph (f) the prosecution shall have the right of reply;
- (h) subject to the provisions of section 94, if, at the close of the case for the prosecution, or after hearing any evidence in defence, the Judge considers that there are no sufficient grounds for committing the accused for trial, the Judge shall order him to be discharged as to the particular charge under inquiry; but such discharge shall not be a bar to any subsequent charge in respect of the same facts either on the same charge or any other charge;
- (i) if the accused is not discharged, the Judge shall commit him for trial by the Assize Court next sitting in the district in which the offence is alleged to have been committed, or with the consent of the accused and the Attorney-General to an Assize Court then in session in such district and, subject to the provisions of subsection (2) of section 157 of this Law, either admit him to bail or commit him to prison for safe keeping.

94. Where there is a conflict of evidence, the Judge shall Conflict of consider the evidence to be sufficient to commit the accused for trial if the evidence against him is such as, if uncontradicted, would raise a probable presumption of his guilt.

95. In the case of a corporation, if the Judge considers Committal of that there is sufficient ground for committing the accused corporation. corporation for trial, he may make an order accordingly and, for the purposes of this Law, any such order shall be deemed to be a committal for trial, empowering the Attorney-General to file an information against such corporation.

96. (1) At every preliminary inquiry, the Judge shall Depositions take down the substance of the evidence of every witness how taken. called thereat in the form of a narrative unless the Judge thinks fit to take it in the form of question and answer and the evidence of every witness so taken shall in this Law be referred to as "deposition."

- (2) The deposition of every witness shall be read over to him and shall be signed by him and attested by the Judge before whom the evidence was taken, the accused, the witness and the Judge being all present together at the time of such reading, signing and attesting subject always to the proviso to paragraph (b) of section 93 of this Law.
- (3) If the witness is unable to sign his name, he shall affix his mark which shall be witnessed by the Judge.
- (4) If a witness refuses to sign or affix his mark, the Judge shall make a note of such refusal on the deposition. with its reason if ascertained.
- 97. (1) If it is made to appear to any Judge that any Taking person dangerously ill, not likely to recover or unable to witness who travel, is able and willing to give material evidence relating is ill, etc. to any offence triable on information with which any person has been charged (whether the preliminary inquiry has not been held or has ended or is in progress, but not after the accused has been discharged), the Judge may take the deposition of such person in the manner in section 96 of this Law provided, subject however to the provisions of subsection (2) of this section.

(2) The Judge taking the deposition shall, where practicable, by an order in writing under his hand, cause reasonable notice to be served on the prosecutor and the accused of his intention to take the same and of the time and place where it is to be taken; and, if the accused is in custody, direct the officer having the custody of the accused to cause him to be conveyed to the place where the deposition is to be taken, for the purpose of being present when it is taken, and to be taken back to the place of custody:

Provided that nothing in paragraph (b) of section 93 of this Law or in this subsection contained shall affect the validity of a deposition if it is proved that notice having been served as hereinbefore provided the person affected thereby, refused or neglected so to attend.

- (3) The procedure set out in paragraph (b) of section 93 of this Law shall, so far as applicable, be followed in connection with depositions taken under this section.
 - (4) If such deposition relates to an offence as to which-
 - (a) the preliminary inquiry has not been held, the Judge taking it shall send it to the Registrar of the Court in which the preliminary inquiry is to be held;
 - (b) the preliminary inquiry has ended, the Judge taking it shall send it to the Registrar of the Court in which the preliminary inquiry has been held;
